KSU business school ranked high for CEOs

Cole's College of Business at Kennesaw State University has been mentioned by Chief Executive magazine as one of the top business schools for CEOs. In its July issue, the magazine published the results of a survey of CEOs, which asked them to choose from among Business Week's top 25 business schools. Although Cole's did not appear on the list, the magazine points out that many CEOs named them anyway.

Cole's MBA program includes the Executive MBA, the BellSouth-Cingular Executive MBA program that offers on-site classes for employees of BellSouth and Cingular, and the Career Growth MBA program that offers flexible night and weekend classes at several locations.
